The International Resource for Senior HR Professionals

The CHRO Association's HR Policy Global is a vibrant and diverse international network of HR professionals from our member companies.

This group finds valuable insights through a rich community of peer contributors and CHRO Association experts. They play a vital role in gaining regional and local HR insights for their CHRO's and our entire membership.

A Truly Global HR View

For regionally based senior HR professionals in our member company organizations we have unique opportunities for advanced insight, real-time intelligence, and candid exchange at both the collective level as well as within multiple local regions.

Given the extremely dynamic world of business today, and so many changes to the workplace, work, and workforce, HR Policy Global has been the security blanket my global HRBPs have come to rely upon for years. The timeliness, effectiveness, and relevance of HRPG's purpose and content help all of us do our jobs well today while properly preparing for tomorrow. I consider them an extension of my team, because we would be far less effective and efficient without them — no question.
